DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-35 are pending in this application.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of claims 1-17 in the reply filed on 4/30/04 is acknowledged.

The arguments provided on pp.13-14 are deemed persuasive. Groups I and II will be examined together. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement with respect to apparatus claims 31-35, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 31-35 have been withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a nonelected invention.

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

It is noted that the claimed invention is directed solely to a method. The examiner suggests amending the title to reflect same.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsai et al. (6,506,291). Tsai discloses a substrate support for supporting a substrate in a semiconductor processing chamber (col.1 lines 8-10). The substrate support 102 may be comprised of any material suitable such as metal, ceramic or combinations thereof and may be a susceptor, a heater, an electrostatic chuck and the like (col.3 lines 52-61). In one embodiment, the substrate support 102 is an electrostatic chuck that includes a dielectric body 106 having a conductive layer such as an electrode 111 embedded therein (col.4 lines 6-13). However, it is noted that the reference does not teach reducing an electrostatic charge.

It is noted that the reference does teach a conductive layer on a substrate susceptor. It is the examiner's position that the reference would inherently possess this benefit.

However, the cited reference fails to specifically teach a plasma CVD process.

It is noted that the reference specifically teaches that the substrate support can be used for a PVD or CVD process (col.2 lines 46-48). Plasma CVD is a specific type of CVD process. It would have been obvious to utilize the claimed substrate support for a plasma CVD process given Tsai's teaching of a CVD process with the expectation of obtaining success.

The limitations of claims 12-14 have been addressed above.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-11, 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 16-30 are allowed.

Radhamohan et al. (5,997,685), Brandolf (4,485,759) and Ko et al. (5,514,623) have been provided for additional information.
